PROCLAMATION

CITY OF TUCSON ♦ OFFICE OF THE MAYOR

WHEREAS, the nonprofit Tucson Educational Empowerment for Minorities encourages, motivates and inspires African-American youth to pursue higher education and attain advanced degrees from historically black colleges and universities; and

WHEREAS, about 170 years ago, poor, disadvantaged former slaves, along with Justin Smith Morrill, Quakers, abolitionists, Methodists and Presbyterians, established collegiate sanctuaries with the sole purpose of empowering future generations of former slave descendents to seek higher education; and

WHEREAS, Tucson Educational Empowerment for Minorities encourages and supports the education of African-Americans in Tucson, teaching our youth about the contributions and sacrifices made to establish these institutions of higher learning; and

WHEREAS, over the past 10 years, Tucson Educational Empowerment for Minorities has established "African-American Youth Heritage Day," where all African-American high school students from Tucson, Marana, and Vail school districts learn about the history, contributions, and sacrifices of African-Americans who laid the foundation for future generations to pursue higher education; and

WHEREAS, Tucson Educational Empowerment for Minorities provides information regarding post-graduate career options and celebrates historically black colleges and universities that assist and support African-American students in their pursuit of higher education at its annual "African-American Youth Heritage Day";

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jonathan Rothschild, Mayor of the City of Tucson, Arizona, do hereby proclaim the 2nd day of February, 2018 to be in this community, and encourage all our residents to recognize the value of higher education and to celebrate the empowerment opportunities available through historically black colleges and universities.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Tucson, Arizona to be affixed this 2nd day of February, 2018.

Dear African American Heritage Day Planning Committee and participants,

Pima Community College is honored to partner with the Tucson Educational Empowerment for Minorities community organization and serve as the host for today's event. The committee has worked diligently to plan a day filled with education, exploration, and inspiration for success.

African American Heritage Day is an exciting opportunity to learn about higher education and to strengthen your commitment to moving forward with earning an academic credential beyond high school. Current demographics indicate that almost all job growth in Southern Arizona over the coming decades will be for individuals with work beyond the high school level. Additionally, salaries are higher as well for those with some academic certification.

Pima Community College exists to provide a connection to educational services for our district. We can help you identify how to meet your future goals through programs at PCC or through one of our many educational partners. PCC faculty, staff, and administrators are here to support you along your educational journey!

Sincerely,

Dr. Morgan Phillips

FROM THE PRESIDENT:

10 years!!!! A decade that seems like yesterday. I remember looking at our youth throughout the African American Community and saying, "They don't have a day to call their own." We have the "Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr." holiday, President's Day, and many other holidays, but, no African American Youth Heritage Day. Our children receive limited information regarding their heritage in school. "Black History Month" is an annual observance in the United States, Canada, United Kingdom and in the Netherlands where it is known as Black Achievement Month, celebrating Black History; also called African American History Month.

We started this celebration at the Dunbar Culture Center with less than 100 students. We have over 500 plus students that want to attend. However, facilities are not conducive to meet the growing numbers. Therefore, we stopped at 450 this year. Our organization works tirelessly to make this event a success. We provide career workshops, such as, Engineering, Medical, Law, Education, Entrepreneurship, D1 College Bound Athletes, Arts and Entertainment and Military, and Finance "How to manage and invest your money". We have college booths reflecting our local, state and Historical Black Colleges and Universities.

Why the need for this celebration? On the backs of slaves, share croppers, etc., there was no hope. Today, we have an opportunity to embrace the moment and provide options by soliciting successful African American males and females to share with students their journey and success story. Also, if they dream big, they can make it. Additionally, students are guided to set goals that are realistic and attainable. Students are made aware of contributions made by African Americans that shaped America and made it a great nation. "Hidden Figures" and many other hidden success stories about our heritage and ancestors are shared.

"It takes a village to raise a child." We will continue being that village and watch our youth grow into healthy and successful African American citizens.

"Yes, we can."

February 2, 2018

On behalf of the Tucson Unified School District, we are honored to collaborate with Tucson Educational Empowerment for Minorities (TEEM) Organization; formerly known as Southern Arizona Black College Community Support Group (SABCCSG). To date, over 2,800 TUSD students have benefited from the annual cultural and heritage event. Furthermore, hundreds of our students have benefited from follow-up financial aid workshops, received college scholarships, attended historical black colleges and universities (HBCU), and are now serving as leaders in our local and national community.

Few events in our local community give African American high school students the opportunity to connect with like-minded individuals that look like them, talk like them, understand their life experiences, and dream like them. Few events bring together over 500 African American high school students to celebrate their heritage and connect with leaders in our community. From Olympians, business owners and medical doctors, to individuals serving under President Obama, TEEM has modeled "It takes a village" to support every child. Today is no different. To all the students in attendance, hold your heads high to the sky. In the words of Countee Cullen, "Hey Black Child. Do you know who you are? Who you really are? Do you know you can be what you want to be if you try to be what you can be?...Hey Black Child. Be what you can be. Learn what you must learn. Do what you can do. And tomorrow your nation will be what you want it to be."

We salute the TEEM Organization for 10 years of celebrating African American students and encourage every student in attendance to give their best every day.

Sincerely,

Jimmy Hart, Director
