3rd-

Summary:
- Aaron Passmore shared video regarding filmmakers. Should they be referred to as “Africa-American filmmakers”? Women filmmakers? Asian filmmakers? How many students can name a filmmaker who is not a white male?
- Discussion as to diversity in current popular bands based on a comment from a Steel Drums student who remarked that he observes all white bands, all black bands, etc.

Smart goal: The bottom 25% of our student population is subject to feelings of exclusion and marginalization based on ethnicity. We will create a curriculum portfolio containing Fine Arts/film projects and performances that challenge traditional ethnic and gender casting. These performances will all have accompanying articles and reviews that students will read, discuss, and then submit written reflections. This portfolio will be uploaded to the Public Folder for use in all classrooms.

Norms:
- A. Equity of Voice
- B. Active Listening
- C. Respect for all Perspectives
- D. Safety and Confidentiality
- E. Respectful use of Technology

Agenda:
1. Discuss pacing for 4th quarter.
2. Discuss final exams.

Notes:
Each teacher discussed where we are in the curriculum so far. It looks like all of us are currently teaching linear functions (with the exception of Campbell’s honors class) and will be making it into Exponential functions to round out the quarter, semester, and year.

Due to our common pacing and use of a common curriculum, we are going to be able to give a common final exam. We discussed the possibility of giving students a choice of different options, those options being a project and presentation or a cumulative exam.

Assigned tasks for next meeting:
- Continue to brainstorm ideas for alternatives to a cumulative final exam.
- Begin discussion of topics for final exam and who will be responsible for which topics.

Goals for next meeting:
- Begin development of a final exam with each teacher responsible for different content.
